Changes by main factors (YoY)

Net sales (Billion yen)

Trend in quarterly results (operating income and ordinary income)

While raw material costs and expenses continued to rise through 2022 due to global instability and rising materials costs, in 2023 operating income increased as a result of easing of materials price rises overseas and by promoting various costs savings and price revisions.

Cost increases and profit improvements

Cost increases and improvement measures

Cost increases

- Raw material costs
- Logistics costs
- Labor costs
- Utility costs

Cost improvement measures

- Price revisions
- Facility consolidation, closure, and reorganization
hile prices of petroleum-based raw materials are leveling off,
- Streamlining of production equipment
 centered on Asia and the Americas, logistics and utility costs remain high, and labor costs are rising.

The effects of price revisions in each segment are significant and contribute significantly to operating income.
We are proceeding with efforts such as reorganization of production and sales structures in Japan and Europe.

| Region | Volume (Yor) | Summary |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |
| India | +3.5 | While sales for packages are down YoY, sales of eco-friendly products are up thanks to sales expansion efforts. Sales of UV offset inks, for which we carried out capital investment last year, are growing. Newspaper sales are somewhat slow. |
| Indonesia | +8.8 | Demand growth and sales expansion advanced for package use in response to Indonesia's favorable economic conditions.  We are enhancing sustainable products such as botanical inks and gas barriers. |
| Vietnam | +2.4 | Sales for package use were slow in the first half due to the effects of slow consumption in the US market. Sales for package use grew in the second half thanks to recovery in both domestic demand for customer products and exports. |
| Thailand | +15.1 | Sales for package use grew sharply thanks to the effects of Thailand's strong economy and sales expansion to major customers. |

| Products | Printing inks for packages (overall), information media (North America), and metals (overall) |
| :--- | :--- |
| Net sales | Slow sales volumes due to sluggish consumption in the US. Sales figures grew due to  price revisions and the weak yen. |
| Operating  income | Increased sharply thanks in large part to stabilization of raw-materials prices and the  effects of price revisions |

Results of price revisions in North America (unit price revision - cost increase)
(Billion yen)

| Region | Volume (Yoy) | Summary |
| :--- | :---: | :--- |
| North America | (9.1) | Slow sales for package and metal use due to the slump in consumption  since the end of 2022 in the US. These are recovering gradually. |
| Brazil | +4.8 | Steady growth in sales for package and metal use due to sales expansion in  Brazil and nearby countries.  Enhancing sales in northeastern South America by establishing a  manufacturing facility at the Colombia branch. |
